Here's What Our Clients Are Saying About Us:

Commodity Manager for Major USA Firearm Company:

"When considering magazine springs, Springfield Spring comes to mind. Their vast knowledge of magazine spring design and dedication to quality & delivery provides a competitive edge in new product speed to market. The Springfield team demonstrates responsive communication and continuous support throughout their organization. If you are looking for a strategic partnership in the firearms industry look no further than Springfield Spring to deliver a quality cost efficient magazine spring on time."

Sr. Product Development Engineer for Major USA Firearm Company:

"Springfield Spring has been quite helpful in providing engineering advice to ensure my designs will be successful. For example, I wanted my spring coils to nest together and their engineer was quite helpful to explain the principles that work successfully and those design approaches that do not. This allowed me to have a successful design from the start."

CEO for Major USA Magazine Manufacturer:

"We engage Springfield Spring at the formative stage of every one of our new Magazine launches. Their expertise in magazine spring engineering, use of state-of-the-art production and test equipment with 100% performance guarantee allows us to significantly reduce test range qualifications and maximizes speed to market. We consider our relationship with Springfield Spring as a critical Supply Chain Partnership helping us with our unprecedented growth and success."
